

Dr. Stacy Gee Hollins Bio

Dr. Hollins currently serves as the Interim Associate Provost of Academic Affairs and Dean of the Anheuser-Busch School of Business at Harris-Stowe State University. Harris-Stowe State University is a historically Black institution (HBCU). She leads in building strategic educational partnerships, designing innovative academic programs, and integrating cutting-edge technologies into programs for the development of a highly knowledgeable and skilled workforce.

Dr. Hollins served as an Assistant Dean and Associate Professor in the Simon E. School of Business at Maryville University providing curricular and administrative leadership for the Cybersecurity, Business Data Analytics, Software Development, and Management Information Systems programs.

Dr. Hollins is a graduate of the University of Missouri – St. Louis and holds a PhD in Educational Technology, MBA from Fontbonne University, Bachelor's degree from St. Louis University in Organizational Communication, and an Associates Degree in Business Administration from St. Louis Community College.

Dr. Hollins has served on several boards, including Girls in the Know, Mathews-Dickey Boys and Girls Club, and Prepare.ai. She currently serves on the GeoFutures Coalition has founded and leads the STL Regional Coalition for Digital Equity and Inclusion, designed to help close the digital divide in the St. Louis region.

Dr. Hollins has received several awards, including the St. Louis Business Journal Most Influential Business Woman, Iota Phi Lambda Apple Teacher of the Year, St. Louis American Salute To Excellence in Education Award, Delux Power 100 Award, and 50 Women Who Inspire Award.